Arts Advisory Council to launch fund-raising and awareness campaign

Although there were some people who resented the City's funding offer of only $3,000 (with the stipulation that class fees must be raised, as well), the board of the Community Arts Advisory Council (CAAC) has accepted the City's offer, according to Teresa Wells, director of the Arts Complex.

The CAAC had originally asked the City to help with start-up costs for three years, according to Wells. However, after funding the program for two years, the City was forced to tighten its belt, and rejected the CAAC's request for $10,000 for the 1991-92 fiscal year. However the City Council agreed to review the situation on September 3, 1991 after receiving more information on what impact the State's budget solutions would have on the City's revenues.

At the start of the September 3 City Council meeting, Wells, taking into account the City's budgetary problems, reduced her request to what she felt was a bare minimum to meet the CAAC's immediate needs - $6,000. And despite the fact that City Manager Jack Shelves told the Council that the State had not hurt the City as much as they had expected, three members of the Council (Dorman, Heiserman and Lake) expressed opposition to and voted against the $6,000 amount. None chose to explain why they felt no commitment to the original three-year concept, or why it had been okay to fund the program in prior years but now was a questionable use of City funds, which caused Wells and her supporters frustration.

In the receiving only half of the immediate needs, the board of the CAAC has decided to mount a "Children's Campaign for the Arts" to raise public awareness of the Arts Complex and to raise money to keep it afloat.

The CAAC plans to go ahead with the planned expansion of the facility, adding the heretofore vacant space east of the original location. Wells feels that for a minimum investment they will be able to double their capacity for classes.

Anyone wishing to help the CAAC with the campaign to raise funds, or to be a patron, should contact Wells at 469-7020, or stop by the Arts Complex.

Supervisors hold hearing but defer redistricting vote

Redistricting on the Federal, State and County levels is being dragged out by the usual political haggling, and no one in their right mind would try to guess what the outcome might be. On the local level, the Board of Supervisors must decide on new supervisorial districts by the end of the month.

After hearing testimony on Tuesday, September 10, the Supervisors decided to put off a vote until next Monday. They are presently considering seven maps. Only one of the seven maps would take Lemon Grove out of the 2nd District. That plan was submitted by the San Diego Black Political Action Committee, and would transfer Lemon Grove and southern Spring Valley to District 1, the South Bay. Several of the other proposals would slice portions of Spring Valley out of District 2, but do not change Lemon Grove.

Supervisor Bailey has stated that he wants his district left intact, but until the votes are tallied, it won't be known whether or not he will get his way, or what will become of Lemon Grove or Spring Valley.

Room tax revenues decline

Visitors staying in the County's 41,000 hotel rooms last year pumped $55.3 million into local tax coffers according to figures released last week by the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau.

The survey of the 18 cities in San Diego County showed hotels paying a total of $55,301,281 in room taxes (TOT) in the previous fiscal year which ended in June. This represents a 6.9 increase over the previous year, despite a 17-year low in hotel occupancy rates.

The Bureau estimates an additional $188 million was paid by visitors to San Diego County in the form of sales tax. This represents part of the estimated $3.36 billion in total visitor spending here last year.

As usual, three quarters of the total room tax revenue was generated in the City of San Diego, with collections of $42,370,792 - an increase of 8.7 percent over the previous fiscal year. Lemon Grove collected $45,598 this year, a drop from its $50,382 in the previous year.

Helping a Feather Friend - Spring Valley resident Robin Senecal of Project Wildlife holds an injured hawk before it is put through a CT scan at Radiology Medical Group. The hawk had been found critically injured on a roadside a week earlier. RMG offered its resources to help Senecal determine if the hawk had been shot and provide information about the hawk's condition. The bird remains in her care and is expected to recover and be released to the wild in six to eight months.

Vandals exposing communities to danger

San Diego Gas & Electric is offering a $12,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a thief believed responsible for creating life-threatening hazards at SDG&E substations. Five different substations, located in different parts of the County, have been vandalized in the past two weeks according to Larry Savoy, SDG&E security manager.

Taken from the substations have been small pieces of copper grounding wires, worth only a few dollars. The wires could result in shocking consequences not only for the suspect but also for employees and customers. Without the grounding wires, some equipment and materials at the substations could carry dangerously unstable voltages causing serious injury or electrocution to substation workers as well as disruption of service and fluctuating voltages for homes and businesses. SDG&E is warning its employees entering any of its 180 substations to use caution.

According to Savoy, several of the break-ins have occurred during daylight. "We're asking the public to be on the lookout and call police if they notice anything like someone cutting through chain-link fences or a gate. Get a vehicle license plate number, but do not make direct contact," he advised. "We're hoping this person stops before he injures or kills himself," he added.

Last year, over 20 different SDG&E substations located Countywide were vandalized in a similar manner. Anyone with information on the break-ins is asked to call 239-SDGE or Crime Stoppers at 235-TIPS.

League education forum planned

"The State Budget and Local School Districts" will be the topic of a brunch forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters (LWV) on Saturday, September 21 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. at the Bancroft Ranch House in Spring Valley.

The panel speakers will be: Mary Block, chairman of the San Diego County Board of Education; Dr. Jo Ann Smith, superintendent of the Grossmont Union High School District; and a representative of the teacher's association. The moderator will be Estelle Womack, LWV education director and a former principal of Madison Avenue Elementary School. The panel discussion will begin at 10 a.m.

The current State League position supports a system of funding which is adequate, equitable and reliable. The purpose of the education forum is to update recent developments on how the State budget will impact the future of education in East County. The meeting is open to the public; registration is a $3 donation. The Bancroft Ranch House is located at 9065 Memory Lane. For more information, call the League at 460-6055.

Grossmont Rehabilitation Center offers new class for MS sufferers

A first of its kind class in San Diego County is being offered by the Grossmont Rehabilitation Center at Grossmont Hospital for those suffering from Multiple Sclerosis (MS).

MS generally attacks people between the ages of 20 and 40 and can cause loss of coordination, uncontrolled eye movements, staggering and extreme fatigue and weakness as well as other symptoms. The disease causes nerves to "short circuit."

Exercise programs and muscle retraining may help patients recovering from acute attacks and can relieve tightening in muscles.

That's why the Rehabilitation Center is offering a special exercise class taught by physical therapists for MS sufferers.

In this six-week class, participants learn stretching movements for tone reduction and control.

For more information, call 589-4100.

Personal comments of Councilman Bob Burns

Pipeline Project

To those who have not asked the question, "Is the SDG&E work on San Miguel Street coordinated with the coming pipeline construction?" The answer is, YES.

SDG&E is moving some of their utility lines so that they will be out of the way of the huge pipeline ditch, and the service will be continued without disruption when the Water Authority contractors do their thing. The question is not a foolish one because we have all witnessed a street torn up, worked on, and repaired to its original quality, only to have another agency come right along and tear it up again. It truly is a mystery why the various agencies cannot get together and avoid such duplication, but we are told that it is really impossible.

Helix Water, Pacific Bell and SDG&E all have separate agendas and they must do their repair work as their crews, equipment and finances allow. A "master calendar" that has been suggested often, just is not possible to coordinate the diverse needs and circumstances of the companies.

In this case, there is such a long lead time and the need to relocate existing facilities, so apparently, some communication is going on between the agencies. We have been told that there are probably pipes, wires, etc., that were installed many years ago and the Water Authority is not sure just what it will find when it opens up this tremendous gash through our city. SDG&E knows, apparently, and is doing its work before the big ditch is started.

The interesting thing about this preliminary work is the manner in which they are making the operation as painless as possible for the residents along the way. This should portend, somewhat, how the pipeline contractors will be ameliorating the impacts of their construction.

The traffic lanes are kept open with flagmen and orange cones in fine style. Heavy steel plates cover the open trenches for safety and to provide good access to each driveway. Excess dirt is piled neatly in locations that I assume have been pre-arranged for between contractor and property owner. When the work is finished, I noted the Transit cement-mix trucks lined up to fill in the ditch back to street level. Traffic is hardly disturbed, and the streets are returned to normal quickly.

I see this as a good sign of what is to come with the pipeline. We have admonished the Water Authority and extracted their promises to do whatever is necessary to make the wound in our city be a clean one, that is to do some other things that will make Lemon Grove even better than it was before the project began. Traffic lights, sidewalks and a completely resurfaced road bed will be in place to hide the fact that there ever was a big ditch in our city at all. Certainly, there will be some inconvenience while it is being constructed, but we will be watchful that it is as little as possible.

Even though the SDG&E work is of a considerably smaller scale, we are seeing what can be done to lessen the undesirable impacts, and we will demand that the same diligence be employed by the Water Authority. And, we will certainly not expect that the SDG&E trucks will be sitting patiently waiting for the asphalt to harden on our brand-new streets after the pipeline is in - so they can jackhammer it again. They better not!

Recreation Center

The Lemon Grove Recreation Department is the fulfillment of a need that our community has suffered from for many years.

Back in 1956, when we were preparing for the second incorporation attempt, the most vocal proponents were stressing the importance of such service for Lemon Grove. The County had, for many years, been siphoning off the revenues that our area produced and spending little of it for our benefit. Parks, recreation as well as police services were very obviously lacking, even though we were producing more revenues per square mile than any other unincorporated area.

The Board of Supervisors turned a deaf ear to our pleas for help in those days. The Lemon Grove Swimming Pool Association was a group of hard-working citizens who were trying to do something. As before stated, the Washington Street Park is the result of their efforts that failed to fund a pool, but did lock up the property that is now a park.

The opponents of cityhood shouted from sound trucks that it would "cost $50,000 per year to provide recreation service." Actually, with a history of zero dollars being spent, any amount would have been a help. The ploy was, of course, to scare the people that taxes would have to be raised, thus, the election failed again.

Today, we have come a long way since the days when we had a zip recreation budget. Now, it is a little less than $400,000 out of a budget of almost $6 million for the entire city. The programs that are available cover a spectrum with offerings for all ages; these programs are well enrolled and enthusiastically enjoyed.

Recreation Director Nancy McCadam does a marvelous job of coordinating all of the events and a fine staff of young people. From senior citizen tap dancing to a wide range of children's programs, our department is second to none within the constraints of funding.

The Recreation Center that was constructed on school property some years ago, is now being embellished with a newly-remodeled Community Center for use by the community. A new set of rules are being contemplated to provide the fairest and most efficient policy structure for the use of our facilities. There are many organizations that wish to use our buildings. The job of trying to give the Lemon Grove groups and the non-profit organizations a preference while trying to please everyone, is difficult. Profit is not a goal, but Nancy wants to make the use of our facilities as cost-effective as possible. The more she succeeds, the more services she can provide with her carefully-hubbed budget. Sometimes hard decisions must be made with the limited funds available.

As with other departments, the public often perceives that they are run with the mythical purse that is never empty. This fairy tale just never got around to happening in Lemon Grove, it is sad to say.

Last spring, my wife, Jackie, and daughter, Erin, and I took advantage of the trip to Yuma to see the Padres play. It was well-planned and executed and I am sure that the $25 fee was non-profit. We saw a good ball game and my daughter got some autographs. With my copious free time now that I am retired, who knows, I might even sign up for that senior tap dancing class.

The City Hall newsletter includes a Recreation Department insert with all of the programs described. Watch for it, or call 464-6934, ext. 342.

Councilman Burns will discuss matters of concern to our readers. If you have questions for Dr. Burns, send them to P.O. Box BB, Lemon Grove, CA 91946.

Here's a little trick to help you save water.

Take a good, long look at the photograph below. Firmly implant it in your mind.

Now, before you take a shower, think about the amount of water you're about to use. Are you saving the warm-up water in a bucket? Will you shut off the water while you soap down? Have you installed a low-flow showerhead?

But don't stop there. Remember to save in the kitchen, on the lawn, and everywhere that you use water. So for a list of water-saving ideas, indoors and out, call us. After all, conservation is San Diego's way of life.

The Lemon Grove Prevention Project is a community initiative to identify and change the environmental factors which lead people to alcohol and other drug use. The project is based on a prevention planning model being developed and funded by the County Department of Health Services, which approaches the community as a whole rather than addressing individual behaviors only.

Joe Farley, Assistant Superintendent of the Lemon Grove School District and one of the project's founding members, believes that, "environmental prevention of alcohol and other drug problems starts with raising the whole community's interest and awareness of the issues".

Although focusing largely on youth and schools, project volunteers have also been assessing the city's overall alcohol environment by monitoring local billboard advertisements, alcohol impacted arrests, and the number, locations and types of alcohol outlets.

The Lemon Grove Prevention Project is a non-profit organization made up of concerned residents and community-based professionals. Representatives of Lemon Grove's ethnic and cultural diversity are particularly encouraged to support and guide project efforts.

Call the project office for more information about the issues, to inquire about program presentations and project services, or to participate as a community advocate.

Meet the President

Colleen Ruis, the current president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce and Office Manager for Letter-Kraft Printing, feels right at home in the city boasting "The Best Climate On Earth".

A native Californian, Colleen grew up in San Juan Capistrano, riding her horse in the Swallows Day Parade as well as showing the quarter horse on the circuit from Del Mar to Santa Barbara. "Lemon Grove brings back many memories of San Juan Capistrano, especially when I see an occasional rider on Lemon Grove Avenue!" muses Colleen. After selling her stock to attend college, Colleen moved to San Diego. She was on of the first five women managers from Colony Kitchens, Inc. She then went on to manage for Victoria Station Restaurants. She married in 1982 to Mark Ruis. After their marriage Colleen chose to spend more time at home. She took a job with Su Casa Restaurante as their bookkeeper. Wanting to break from restaurant business, she began her career with Letter-Kraft Printing. The last 9 1/2 years has gone very fast for Colleen since her employment with Letter-Kraft Printing. Bill Trask, General manager for Letter-Kraft believes in helping his employees reach their maximum potential and encouraged Colleens' desire to become more involved with Lemon Grove and the Chamber of Commerce.

Colleen has served on the Board of Directors for 2 years and has taken an active part in several committees, one of which is the newly created Steering Committee. After creating a Mission Statement the Committee is now in the process of developing a plan to achieve many goals over the next 5 years, including more business education and Chamber officers Dr. Boyd Stewart, Colleen Ruis and Mary Shelley.

September Sundowner

The Sundowner for September 25th will be held at Stewart Chiropractic Center, 6963 Broadway, at 6:00 p.m. Please mark your calendar for the time change. Dr. Stewart needs the additional time to care for his patients, but he'll have everything under control by 6 p.m. so we can have a tour of his offices and meet with his staff. Boyd is looking forward to everyone coming to the September Sundowner. Don't forget to mark your calendar for the date, Sept. 25th and the time 6 p.m. See you there!

Potluck Sundowner is whopping success

The "Potluck Sundowner" was a huge success on August 28th at the Community Center and was a perfect night for networking by everyone who attended.

Approximately 100 City, Fire, Sheriff and Chamber members attended this first time Chamber sponsored Potluck. Everyone did a super job, starting with Tony's Bar who provided the keg and all the necessary equipment to "cool the brew". To all those who set-up and cleaned-up, I want you to know you're very dear to my heart. A big thank you to Desi Radney of Country Comfort Catering who brought her ideas and magic box of decorating tips. With a "clip-clip" here and a "drape-drape" there, she had the tables looking better than ever and made us all look good. A "gold star" goes to all the Chamber members responsible for bringing delicious dishes, and plenty of it. You all did a fabulous job.

A special thanks to Cassandra Manassa-Mullen of Manassa's Sweety Pies for the terrific pies she brought to abundantly supply the dessert table. We had cakes, pies, brownies, and nut breads for everyone to enjoy.

The Fishbowl was won by Erica Aldrich of Color Me Beautiful. It was a good one to win and Erica said she waited a long time for the right one to come along. Dell Lake was the winner of a one year subscription to the Lemon Grove Review; Bob Guest won a $20 Gift Certificate from Country Comfort Catering; and Dr. Boyd Stewart won two tickets to the San Diego Zoo with bus tour included.

If anyone left the Community Center hungry that night it was their own fault. The Chamber members did an outstanding job and many who attended remarked about the evening and the wonderful turnout. We are a busy organization but hope to add this as an annual event. For those of you who are not members of the Chamber at this time, we extend a warm welcome to become part of the friendliest community organization you'll ever find. Get involved with the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce. You will be pleased with the returns you receive from association with this group. Thanks again to everyone.

Grand Opening Set for Manassa's Sweety Pies

Manassa's Sweety Pies has scheduled their Grand Opening for October 4, 1991 at 2:30 p.m. If you haven't found this "tasteful" little shop you are missing a pleasant surprise. Mark your calendars to be there on the 4th of October at 2:30 p.m. Join Cassandra, Mayor Dorman, Miss Lemon Grove and the Chamber for the Ribbon Cutting and a "good taste" of business.

PARCEL NUMBERING SYSTEM EXPLANATION

The Assessor's parcel number when used to describe property in this list, refers to the Assessor's map book, the map page or block number in the book and the individual parcel number on the map page or within the block. A parcel number as for example, '448-692-12' would mean Book 448 of the Assessor's Maps, Block 692 (Page 69, Block 2) and Parcel 12 within that block. A sub-identification number of 01 or 02, etc. to a parcel, as for example, '448-692-12-01' would indicate multiple ownership or condominium. The maps referred to are available for inspection in the office of the Assessor.

All property hereinafter described is in the County of San Diego, State of California; all townships being south of the San Bernardino Base, and all ranges being either east or west of the San Bernardino meridian.

SITES ADDRESS EXPLANATION

The street address of the property, if any, is included as shown on the County Assessment Roll for each parcel declared to be in default. Parcels without an assigned street number are shown as street number 00000.

A PETITION has been filed by PHYLLIS NADINE GLEASON in the Superior Court of California, County of

THE PETITION requests that PHYLLIS NADINE GLEASON be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval.

The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on SEP 16, 1991 at 1:45 p.m. in Dept. F-5, located at 1501-55 Sixth Avenue, San Diego, CA 92101-1946.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

Commentary

by Paul Treske

No one asked for my opinion on any of the following, but I'm going to give it anyhow.

Clarence Thomas will probably be confirmed after a long and bloody battle, but he shouldn't be. The Bar Association rating of his career was lukewarm and he is so obviously a political appointment that the president should be ashamed. Of course, most Supreme Court appointments are political but most (with the exception of several of Richard Nixon's) at least present a semblance of judicial consideration. Not so, Judge Thomas.

Someone will eventually run for the Democrats in 1992. It won't be any of their so-called heavy hitters (Cuomo, Bradley, etc.) but they'll find someone young and attractive to lose to George Bush. They probably are looking back with warm nostalgia to the "good old days" when the primaries meant little and the smoke-filled rooms of brokered conventions actually chose the candidates. Fewer and fewer of the big names want to go through the agony of the primary process. After all, why in blazes should New Hampshire and Iowa be so darned important in picking our presidents?

Things among the Russian republics can only get worse for the foreseeable future. Right now, they all have the look of teenagers righteously declaring their independence without either the material wherewithal or political maturity to do so. The squabbling over borders and ethnic groups has already begun, and with the increased chaos of reorganization, it only promises to get worse ala Yugoslavia. Lithuania has already set off a brushfire by releasing a raft of Nazi death camp collaborators without consulting anyone. More of this sort of thing is still to come.

Don't hold your breath regarding the release of American hostages held by Arab terrorists. The Israelis announced that they would release many of the prisoners they hold if the Islamic Jihad would, in turn, release either the bodies (alive or dead) of their seven missing soldiers or at least hard information as to their status. The answer has basically been silence!

It would appear that everyone is waiting to see how events in the former Soviet Union play out before committing themselves. So, don't count on a meaningful Mideast conference in October. With all participants waiting and no agenda on the horizon, it's still a ways off! Just like the Chargers' hopes of winning the Superbowl!

Low-cost SB 198 seminar offered in Spring Valley

Lemon Grove residents and business persons interested in knowing more about SB 198 are especially invited to this seminar. Many people have already paid over $100 for a similar seminar. Here is an opportunity for you to learn about SB 198 at minimal cost and time involved - and nearby, too.

Taking note of the confusion surrounding the new state law known officially as SB 198, the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a special seminar on the subject on Tuesday, September 24 at 6 p.m. in the meeting room of Santa Sophia Church.

Often referred to as the "Be a Manager, Go to Jail" law, it became effective on July 1, 1991. Its principal provision requires that every business, no matter how small, have a written injury and illness prevention program in place and operating.

"While the 'go to jail' phrase is not necessarily true," said Ray Kohler, co-chairman of the Chamber's program committee, "there are some pretty stiff fines for non-compliance."

The program will feature an overview of the law, its implications on businesses, the advantages of full compliance and the "how to" of implementation. The panel of experts assembled for the meeting consists of Diego Cenfugos, PhD; Grace Greenberg, MS; Cecile Bereal BBA and David Graham, safety director and consultant.

Kohler stated, "Because of the seriousness of this law, the Chamber is encouraging attendance by all Chamber members and has opened the registration to non-members as well." The cost for the meeting is $10 for Spring Valley Chamber members and $15 for non-members.

The church is located at 9800 San Juan Street in the Casa de Oro section of Spring Valley.

Advance registration is required and reservations can be made by calling the Spring Valley Chamber at 697-2500 (from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.) or 670-8232 (All-state Insurance) during business hours.

From Where I Sit

One tough Frenchman

by Frank Andrews

The other day we received a very sad letter from our friends in Emo, Ontario, Canada. Joe Morneau, one of our best friends of nearly 40 years had succumbed to cancer.

Joe had a lung removed last year so we all hoped and prayed that he had licked this so dreaded disease. This time the cancer struck at his brain and Joe just couldn't handle that one. We had hoped to visit him in Canada sometime this fall to see our good friend, maybe for the last time. We were too late!

So I would like to use my column this week as a kind of memorial to this rough, tough Frenchman that had a heart of gold and had done so much for us over these many years. This only goes to prove that we all have to show love and thanks to our good friends and family before it is too late.

I met Joe nearly 40 years ago on a winter fishing trip to the Rainy Lake area of Southwestern Ontario. At that time he was a guide for both hunting and fishing, with trapper, lumberjack, cabin builder, a kind of "jack-of-all-trades" thrown in. Joe wore many hats. He was strong as an ox; not an ounce of excess fat on that guy; and he could accomplish most any task presented him by using his brain as well as his brawn.

We were so thrilled with the wild beauty of Canada that we purchased some lakeshore property. I drew a plan for our new cabin on a napkin one evening at Joe's place. That's all he needed as he "took the bull by the horns" and proceeded to erect our "dream cabin." He worked all that summer and way into the 50 degree below zero winter to finish it for us.

The cabin was built like a fortress never to move a fraction of an inch even under severe freeze conditions. Each spring he made the place ready for our annual arrival and in the late fall he would winterize the cabin to withstand the extreme cold.

While we were in residence at our Canadian Shangri-la, Joe catered to our every need besides helping to maintain the place from normal wear and tear. When he guided us on some wonderful fishing trips we always caught fish. Joe baited our lines, ran the outboard motor, took our fish off the line, and even filleted and fried the fish on an open fire. Man, that was living!

Joe was a serious critter, but he did have his humorous side, too. I remember the time Joe guided us on one of his fabulous fishing expeditions. After filleting the walleyes that we had just caught, Joe prepared the boneless fish for the fire. He usually made a dip out of egg, beer, and cracker crumbs. He tried to crack the one egg from the mess kit with much vigor but it just wouldn't crack. The lodge had played a trick on Ol' Joe by sending along a hard-boiled egg. We all laughed at Joe and then he joined in, making it the funniest event of the trip.
